

CURIOSLY CONNECTED:

Rebuilding Trust and Human Connection in the Age of AI
(60 minute interactive keynote)

We live in a paradox. After years of social media, algorithms and now AI, we live in the most connected time in human history. And yet, we've never felt more disconnected, while trust is at an all-time low. Human connection is becoming a luxury good.

AI can do a lot of things, but it can't build real relationships.

So, in the age of AI, the future belongs to those who can bring tech together with what makes us uniquely human: trust, connection, belonging and getting curious about each other.

It's time to get reconnected!

In this interactive keynote, Dr Kate Raynes-Goldie doesn't just talk about the importance of human connection, she actually creates it using curiosity and purposeful play as an engine for reconnection.

Powered by SUPERCONNECT® - an evidence-based method built on LEGO® Serious Play® that optimises for human connection, trust, belonging and psychological safety - participants use LEGO bricks to create what's on inside their minds and hearts. Their thoughts and feelings become something they can see, hold and share... with more depth, and clarity, while giving others a way in. Barriers break down. Suddenly they're having better conversations about what really matters and connecting in a new way. It's what Dr Kate calls "mutually assured vulnerability" - and it's the fastest path to real trust and connection.

SUPERCONNECT® levels the playing field so everyone can meaningfully participate - introvert or extrovert, new starter or CEO, neurodivergent or neurotypical - making it one of the most inclusive team experiences you can offer.

Your people will leave feeling reconnected with a renewed sense of belonging and understanding - of each other and of themselves - whether they've worked together for years or have never met. Clients call it a game changer. This isn't just a morale boost. It's the foundation your team needs to do their best work, together.

In the words of past participants: it "seriously created trust, understanding, empathy and deep connections so easily" and "helps bring humans together to connect, make sense of things and have real breakthroughs."

Includes a customisation session to tailor the experience to your audience and goals.

Key Takeaways

- Why human connection is now mission critical - not just nice to have - and the business impact of trust and belonging on collaboration, culture and performance
- A firsthand experience of SUPERCONNECT® and LEGO® Serious Play® that builds real trust and connection between participants, fast
- A felt understanding of "mutually assured vulnerability" - participants don't just hear about it, they experience what it feels like to be seen, heard and understood

- Participants feel a renewed sense of connection, belonging and understanding - of each other and of themselves
- An experience of a truly level playing field, where every voice is heard regardless of role, personality type, organisational role or communication style - so participants leave knowing what inclusive collaboration actually feels like